

Artopex products achieve GREENGUARD Gold Certification

Artopex is proud to announce that as of December 10, 2018, certain products are now GREENGUARD Gold certified by the UL Environment's GREENGUARD Certification Program. The freestanding laminate furniture as well as office and lounge seating collections comply with the requirements of this strict standard for improving indoor air quality.

Similar to GREENGUARD certification (granted to the majority of Artopex collections since 2008), GREENGUARD Gold inventories products and materials with low emission rates of chemical substances and volatile organic compounds, but with more rigorous requirements to respect. Low emissions ensure healthy indoor air quality, making these products better suited to environments in which people spend a large part of their time, including schools, health care facilities, commercial spaces and offices.

Achieving this internationally recognized and accepted certification is consistent with our sustainability goals and our commitment to reducing our ecological footprint.

Please contact your Artopex representative for any questions.
