A Breath of Freshness for Take Off

"Take Off is our key collection at Artopex, and has been since 1999. This line of freestanding furniture is found in the heart of many Canadian and American companies. Like all collections, Take Off must evolve and follow design trends. We are therefore proud to present today the results of several months of work: the fourth generation of Take Off", says Jean Barbeau, Director of Research and Development.

From luxurious executive desks to multi-workstations, unassigned work surfaces, collaboration spaces and diversified storage units, Take Off owes its popularity to its impressive versatility and quality.

The new generation of Take Off is no exception to the rule, quite the contrary! More flexible than ever, it pushes the boundaries and adapts to today's office, while offering new and unique ways of working.

When Flexibility Meets Esthetics

Take Off allows you to create and dream by proposing furniture of unequalled modularity and impeccable esthetics. The collection offers you a wide range of products, all of which have a common feature: a modern look and a high quality finish.

"Beyond its modern look, the new generation of Take Off also introduces unique and practical pieces that optimize work environments and make room for new ways of working. Discover green walls, collaborative walls, adjustable surfaces, acoustic recessed backs, mobile storage units and much more!" adds Jean Barbeau.
